
Constitution Day and Citizenship Day is observed each year on September 17 to commemorate the signing of

This commemoration had its origin in 1940, when Congress passed a joint resolution authorizing and requesting the President to issue annually a proclamation setting aside the third Sunday in May for the public recognition of all who had attained the status of American citizenship.

In 1952 Congress repealed this joint resolution and passed a new law moving the date to September 17 to had attained American citizenship. This law urged civil and educational authorities of states, counties, cities and towns to make responsibilities and opportunities as citizens of the United States and of the State and locality in which they

In 2004 under Senator Byrd's urging, Congress changed the designation of this day to "Constitution Day and Citizenship Day" and added two new requirements in the commemoration of this Day. The first is that the head of every federal agency provide each employee with educational and training materials concerning the Constitution on September 17th. The second is that each educational institution which receives Federal funds should hold a program for students every September 17th.
